

David Foropoulos

Vice President, Director of Research
Unum

David Foropoulos joined Unum in 2011 and is currently a Vice-President and Director of Research in the Investments Department. Along with managing a team of analysts that support Unum's $40B credit portfolio, David is a voting member of the Investment Committee and Private Asset Committee. Before coming to Unum, David worked as a buy-side analyst/portfolio manager at Highland Capital Management in Memphis, TN. Prior to Highland Capital, David maintained sell-side equity research positions at several firms including Morgan Keegan, Hilliard Lyons and Cowen & Company. David has 25 years of experience as an investment professional. He received his B.S. in engineering from the University of Tennessee Knoxville and his MBA from the Owen School at Vanderbilt University. David also holds the Chartered Financial Analyst designation.