

Garland Buchanan

Senior Research Analyst

Legal and General Investment Management America (LGIMA)

Garland Buchanan is a senior research analyst with the U.S. investment grade research team at Legal and General Investment Management America (LGIMA) where he covers the healthcare & pharma, auto, industrials, and not-for-profit hospital sectors. Buchanan has 14 years of credit research experience, and before joining LGIMA in 2011, he worked within Barings' Public Corporate Credits Group covering the investment grade and high-yield homebuilder and building materials sectors and investment grade energy, oil field services, and pipeline sectors. Before starting his career in finance, Buchanan was a naval aviator for eight years. He received a B.A. from Duke University and an M.B.A. from Cornell University.